

Are credit reports all the same?

Written by Brett Bruce

Monday, 09 March 2009 22:53 -

No. Each of the three reporting companies' reports look different and may not contain the same information. The companies maintain their own databases and do not often share information.